

Here follows a running list of books, magazines, hardware, software and other online (and off) items of interest to folks in creative careers. I'll continue to flesh out this list, as well as welcome additional suggestions, as time permits, but these, to me, are salient points in the sometimes foreboding landscape that confronts the young creative professional.

Books

Getting Things Done, David Allen

Graphic Artists Handbook: Pricing and Ethical Guidelines, The Graphic Artists Guild

The Rise of the Creative Class, Richard Florida

The War of Art, Steven Pressfield

A Whole New Mind, Daniel Pink

Periodicals

Advanced Photoshop

Art in America

Art Calendar

ARTNews

Beautiful Decay

CRAFT Mag

Computer Arts

MAKE Mag

Modern Painters

New American Paintings

Photoshop Creative

Photoshop User

Juxtapoz

Online Resources & Opportunities

43 Folders

Creative Commons

Google

Lifehacker

Lynda.com

Wordpress

Social Networking

Bebo - facebook for europe and the brits

Facebook - create a fan page for yourself

Myspace (meh)

SecondLife

Hardware

Mac

Software

Adobe Acrobat

Adobe Photoshop Elements

Firefox

Google --> Analytics, Blogger, Docs, Gmail, Sites

iChat

iLife --> iMovie, iPhoto, iWeb

iWork Suite --> Keynote, Numbers, Pages

MobileMe (formerly .Mac)

Processing.Org

Skype

Visual Understanding Environment